BEAUTY BULLETIN

THE BEAUTY TEAM SORT THE GOOD STUFF FROM THE FLUFF

NAIL POLISH IN SITTIN' PRETTY, £10.95, ESSIE

SHANNON PETER, STYLIST'S BEAUTY ASSISTANT, SAYS:

I plan on being neon-nailed for most of the summer and this painterly purple hue has caught my eye. It has the skintone-flattering properties of a fluoro, but is more of a bright pastel – perfect for my olive skin.

MORPHO KERATIN TREATMENT, £45 FOR 45 MINUTES, KERASTASE

SAMANTHA FLOWERS, STYLIST'S ACTING BEAUTY DIRECTOR, SAYS:

I booked myself in to try out Kerastase's new smoothing salon treatment. It eliminates frizz for up to 10 shampoos and gives me more time in bed by cutting blow-drying time.

CITY MIRACLE CC CREAM SPF 50, £27, LANCÔME

SHANNON SAYS: This diminutive multi-tasker has scored a permanent spot in my hand luggage. It peps up my complexion, saturates my skin in anti-ageing actives, and its SPF 50 protection supersedes my regular sunscreen. All boxes ticked!

VERY IRRESISTIBLE L'EAU EN ROSE, £37.50, GIVENCHY

SAMANTHA SAYS: And so my carefully curated collection of summer scents grows... This fresh rose sorbet fragrance (there's blackberry in there too) comes into its own during the warm evenings; it's crisp and sheer, yet lasts all night.

LIP GLOW BALM IN ORANGE POPPY, £23, BURBERRY

SHANNON SAYS: My new go-to lip hue is this sheer, jaunty rouge. Don't be fooled by the bright bullet, it's actually a tinted balm (which makes it blissfully low maintenance) and the formula – which contains lavender, rosehip and tea extracts – is seriously hydrating.

OPTIMAL BODY TRISERUM, £38, ESPA

SAMANTHA SAYS: I'm limbering up for summer's shorter hemlines by liberally applying this intensive serum. My skin drinks up the hydrating omegas and it contains turmeric, to even out skintone and fade bruising. I finally feel my legs are ready to come out of hibernation.
